Workshops For Educators

1. How to Lead Wellbeing at Work

For: A practical workshop equipping senior leaders to promote wellbeing and resilience confidently in themselves and others.

Time: Half-day [can be scheduled as one event or over 2-3 sessions]

Overview: Promoting wellbeing in the staffroom relies on effective leadership. In this engaging workshop for SLTs, our experienced presenters combine academic knowledge with personal insights and practical tips for professional application. This important session lays the foundation for establishing a positive organisational culture, championing psychological safety and high quality connections. Staff will leave feeling inspired, motivated and empowered to look after their own wellbeing, and support their teams.

2. Five Ways to Wellbeing at Work

For: This practical workshop is for staff to better understand how the Five Ways to Wellbeing can support and grow resilience at work.

Time: Half-day [can be scheduled as one event or over 2-3 sessions]

Overview: Research shows employee wellbeing and organisational success are inextricably linked. While we've known that for a while anecdotally, we now have the science to support it: People experiencing good wellbeing at work are more likely to be creative, more loyal, more productive and feel supported (New Economics Foundation, 2015). Thanks to new science from fields such as Positive Psychology and Neuroscience, we now also have a raft of evidence-based tools and techniques shown to boost employee and team wellbeing. This half-day course takes the woolliness out of wellbeing, providing research-supported (but always practical and engaging) insights to build personal and organisational wellbeing.

Workshop Series for Staff

A. Realtime Resilience: Thriving through uncertainty and change

We have curated these workshops for educators around content that senior leadership have told us respond to their staff's most pressing needs. Structured and sequenced into two distinct series — one introduces resilience, and the second focuses more tightly on managing stress.

This accessible learning series equips staff with the skills of resilience and practical tools to combat stress and support their performance at work.

Time: 4 x 1-hour Workshops
[choose 4 workshops]

Delivered by our team of National Trainers, face-to-face and/or webinars.

1. The what, why and how of resilience

- What resilience is and is not
- Why resilience is important
- Practical tips and strategies you can put into practice to support your own resilience and wellbeing

2. Mental Agility: A core resilience competency

- Why psychological flexibility is vital for coping well in uncertain and changing times
- A practical strategy to put mental agility into daily workplace practice
- Why 'realistic optimism' is an important resilience tool

3. Avoiding thinking traps

- How our own thinking can get in the way of resilience
- Identifying thinking traps and when we fall into them
- Working with common thinking traps and their antidotes

4. Positive Emotions: Why they matter for resilience

- Understanding why positive emotions help us navigate tough times
- How these emotions help us recover from physical and mental distress
- Strategies to generate positive emotions at work and at home

5. An introduction to Strengths (Session 1)

- Strengths – what they are and why they matter
- Discovering your strengths
- Exploring and developing your strengths at work

6. Taking a strengths-based approach in your school (Session 2)

- Using strengths-spotting to build relationships and engagement
- Practical tools to implement strengths in the classroom
- Adopting a strengths-based approach across your school

B. Realtime Resilience: Personal tools to manage stress

This series provides critical tools for all staff to manage stress and burnout in themselves in their teams.
